PARKHURST IN THE DUMPS.

HE HEARS THAT THE POLICE THINK TAMMANT'S GUING TO WIN.

A Deliverance Concerning Some of the Various Sorts of "Criminals" Who Don't Agree with Him-Mr. Pintt Omitted for the Present-Strictly Private Revelations About the Police Porce.

Dr. Parkhurst, whose throat has gone back on him, made a speech to his typewriter yesterday in behalf of the fusion ticket. He sets out by assuming that the people are pleased with the present municipal administration, and with that assumption he proceeds as follows:

"I wish that we could have had just one dirty week of Tammany government prior to the coming fifth of November, and I would guarantee a reform victory that would convert the whole herd of administrative thugs, thieves, and debauchees into a horror of the past and a fetid memory; and if by any foolishness or negligence of ours we make it possible for the old system of semi-disguised anarchy to come back again we are going to curse ourselves for our stupid and criminal supineness and curse one another for being sharers with us in it. We need not expect that Tammany, if it should return to power, would be any different for having sat for a time on the anxious seat; she is so constituted as to exercise a determinate amount of depravity in a given period, and if she has to lie off for a year or two she will make it all up when she lies on again. Unrepentant iniquity does not grow into grace by being temporarily left fallow. The tiger is feeble to-day because she has gone a year without being fed; but if she gets in among the lambs once more she will eat for the past as well as for the future. The trouble with the brute is not that her digestion is disordered, but that, since New Year's, she has had nothing to digest. What is commonly known as the interior distraction of Tammany is simply the abdominal rumblings incident to is simply the abdominal rumblings incident to having nothing inside of her intestines. Cutting off an animal's head and cutting off its feed have the same issue when adequately prolonged. Twelve months more of total enforced abstemiousness means death. That is the policy that as virtuous and intelligent citizens we need to arrange for next Tuesday. If we do not deal her a deathblow now, we are fools for having gone to the pains of wounding her a year ago.

"Nor does it meet the case to say that little harm would come from a Tammany victory this year, seeing that the chief positions of authority would still be occupied by men not in sympathy with Tammany. Any such reply, however bonestly intended, proceeds from a failure to appreciate the delicacy of the present situation. Let us illustrate by reference to the Board of Police Commissioners. It is perhaps not generally understood that their nerves are being strained to the utmost in the maintenance of their executive authority. Thanks to the legislative criminals that left New York city in the lurch last winter, we still have a pelice force that, so far as relates to its higher ranks at any rate, is, as a rule, as distinctly mutinous against law and order and commouplace decency as it was a year ago. The police being in sympathy with criminals, it is only by the utmost strain of endeavor that they can be made by the Commissioners to enforce the law against criminals. And that difficulty is going to be terrifically enhanced if the Commissioners lose the moral support that goes with the feeling that they are the expression of the predominant will of the poople.

"Lawlessness is on the increase in this city tohaving nothing inside of her intestines. Cut-moral support that goes with the feeling that they are the expression of the predominant will of the people.

"Lawlessness is on the increase in this city today, and it is because the police have an impression that Tammany is going to win. There has been during the past ten days, a rapid increase in the number of complaints reaching me from all parts of the town, indicating the growing boldness of lawbreakers. These are facts, and they ought to be charged home to the serious reflection of citizens who care to have law regarded and our municipal institutions maintained. The fact to be remembered is that the police have not, during the year past, broken with the old offenders against excise laws or any other laws. When they have enforced law they have said to the guilty party: 'We are sorry to have to do this, but we can't help ourselves.' The friendship between the police and the criminals is as close to-day as ever it was, and they are all ready to resume the old blackmail relations the instant the pressure of public opinion is removed. It was only yesterday that I had with me in my study for an hour a police Captain who has been a great many years upon the force, is still there, and has been personally intimate with and participant in the criminal conduct of the force; there is nothing about the police situation that he does not know, and he declared to me, without qualification or evasion, that the attitude of policemen's minds today is one of waiting; that they are as ready to blackmail as ever, and that whereas, if the present reform movement continues, they will commence laying their plans to procure preferment by money. We will not underestimate the controlling influence of the Board of Police Commissioners, but twenty each of Roosevelt, Parker, Andrewa, and Grant would not insure discipline in the force except as they were felt to be backed by the support of popular sentiment. I am speaking upon a matter which I understand and with which I have ample opportunity to acquaint myself, and I do not believe t a matter which I understand and with which I have ample opportunity to acquaint myself, and I do not believe that there is any general appreciation of the delicacy of the situation or any general suspicion of the peril that will be involved in even a seeming recovery of any of Tammany's lost power. I would have liked to say all of this and a great deal more on the platsay all of this and a great deal more on the plat-form of Cooper Union and of the Madison Square Garden even, but physical condition has kept my mouth shut, although it has not kept my thought still nor my heart quiet. It seems to me that we shall win because it seems to me that we must win?

to me that we shall win because it seems to me that we must win."

He goes on to say that the fusion ticket is the only ticket by which Tammany can be defeated. He hopes the Goo Goo ticket will get a very small vote so that it will be seen that the average of sense in the G. G. clubs is high. He says there are four names out of the ten on the fusion ticket to which even the G. G. clubs are committed. Personally he will vote for more than four—number not specified—"but upon those four, anyhow, we can all concentrate, and if we do concentrate upon them for all we are worth we shall elect them; and if we do elect them, especially if we elect them by a handsome major-fly, their election will mean the triumph of reform and the overthrow of Tammany."

PARKHURST SCORES WILLIAMS.

He Says the Ex-Inspector Is Brutal, Un-truthiul, and Profane.

Dr. Parkhurst talked last night in Arlington Hall, 19 St. Mark's place, to an audience in the composition of which women were an important factor. When introduced by the Chairman George M. Cassatt, the speaker was greeted with cheers. A long line of policemen extended around three walls of the hall, which was fairly well filled with people who appeared to agree with the Doctor's opinions, as nothing but approvai was evinced during his speech, which was directed especially toward ex-Inspecto Williams, the Republican and State Democrac candidate for State Senator in the Twelfth Senate district.
"The intensest interest in the present situation of political affairs is being shown in this city," said the doctor, "and it is only that interest and no mailtrant feeling entertained in my heart toward the candidate whose career I will discuss that prompts me to speak to-night. Twelve months ago, when the air was full of moral enthusiasm, it would have been absolutely impossible even to suggest the name of Alexander Williams for any position. How there should be a chance of a man with his past to have secured a nomination for a Senatorial office is beyond my comprehension. That he can lift his head and ask for suffrage is almost beyond belief. I repeat that I feel no malignancy or enmity toward him, but the absolute incapacity of the man to fill any position of honor or trust is so great that one wonders at his daring to run for public office. It is difficult to understand the extent of Williams's mendacity."

Dr. Parkhurst then told of his first excursion into the Eleventh precinct, of how he collected sixty cases against gambling houses and other unlawful places, submitting them to the Board of Folice Commissioners, who in turn submitted them to Williams and Devery, who calmly informed the Board that no such places existed in that precinct. The Doctor said that hether repeated his visits, securing evidence, which, when the cases were carried before the Court of Special Sessions, resulted in an easy conviction in hearity every case.

"Williams," he said, "when called upon by the Board for a report, said that he had given my first charges the closest investigation and found them to be without foundation. He said that officers who had been detailed to investigated in my charges.

"Of course they were unable to gain entrance," shouted the Doctor, becoming excited at the recollection, "They told the inmates who they were. This whole report was a lie, it is in a proper that in an easy conviction and found them to be without foundation. He said that officers who had been detailed to investigation and found they were. This whole report was a lie, it is a substant then cited several instances in which Williams had been tried and fined for clubbing and ot terest and no malignant feeling entertained is my heart toward the candidate whose career l is testimony at the Lexow investigation was referred to, in which Capt. Schmittberger awore that he had given part of the blackmail money received by him to Williams. "Do you want to send him to Albany?" criumphantly asked the Doctor as he finished his denunciation.

"Try Sing Sing!" some one in the audience responded, at which there was loud applause.
After praising David Schwartz, the Goo Goo candidate, the Doctor subsided, and the meeting quickly disbanded.

BISHOP POTTER WITH THE G. G'S. The "Base Alliance" of the Fusion Ticket Not Justifiable to His Mind,

This letter from Bishop Potter was given to the newspapers last night with his permission R. Pulton Cutting, Esq., Chairman Executive Committee Good Government Clubs.
"DEAR SIR: In response to your inquiry as o my attitude toward the present municipal situation, I am very glad to assure you that it is one in hearty sympathy with your own. As a member myself of a Good Government club and as in complete accord with that for which it stands, I am profoundly tuankful that there are some of the same fellowship who have been enabled to "see straight" in the present emergency, and have stood out against a most mortifying surrende of the reform movement. A base alliance is not justifiable, in my judgment, even for the accom plishment of a good end. It is not expedient, it is not sound political wisdom, to compromis principle, even for the sake of electing good men or keeping bad men out of office. Political sagacity and a regard for what is right alike lemand that the clubs should adhere to their fundamental principle of non-partisanship in

"I can quite appreciate the temptation to surrender a position of independence which for the moment seems only likely to invite defeat for an equivocal alliance which promises victory, and I can no less appreciate the rejuctance to appear obstinate or impractical, which has loubtless led many good men into a partnership which promises a victory over the common saip which promises a victory over the common foe. But it seems to me that such a victory will cost the very position which it proposes to defend. I believe that a victory won by an alliance with corrupt men surrenders the very vantage ground from which we can alone hope successfully to fight them.

"We hear much of 'practical politics.' I believe that the fusion business is bad 'practical politics.'

politics."
"No sophistry can confuse in the minds of the masses of the people the fact that in order to defeat a corrupt political organization, a combination has been made with men who repto defeat a corrupt political organization, a combination has been made with men who represent precisely the same methods to be used for the same ends. The plain people, who form the great body of our fellow citizens, and who read and think a great deal more about this matter than many of us imagine, are in no confusion of mind on this subject. They understand what government by bosses, or by alliance with bosses, means; and they are waiting for men with courage and steadfastness sufficient to deliver them from it.

"I believe that the great mass of our citizens, who have no personal ends to serve in an election, are ready to stand by any group of men, however small, who will not consent to a base alliance even to attain a good end. Whatever the present may have influence for them, the future is theirs. Meantime, I am with them, heart and soul. Yours faithfully.

"NEW YORK, Nov. 1, 1805."

80,000, TAMMANY'S FIGURE. Lowest Estimate of Her Plurality After the District Leaders' Report. Thirty thousand is the lowest and most conservative estimate of the plurality of the Tammany Hall county ticket made by the Tamman campaign managers. This estimate is the result of reports made by the Assembly district leaders at a protracted meeting of the Executive Committee held last evening. Every district was represented and every leader was loaded with facts and figures gleaned by his election district captains in a careful canvass of the registered voters. These data promised a victory for the county ticket as complete in its way as the defeat was last year. This was all that Chairman James J. Martin of the way as the defeat was last year. This was all that Chairman James J. Martin of the committee would say about the matter after the meeting, except that the indications point to the election of the Tammany candidates for Segator in every one of the ten Democratic districts despite the candidacy of State Democrats in all of them. He also said that the figures submitted indicate the election of thirty of the thirty-five Assemblymen, although the Republicans have a chance to elect seven or eight. Of the two Republican Senate districts, the Fifteenth and Ninetecath, Mr. Martin said that the Tammany candidates in each are hopeful of election, and that Dr. Schultzein the Nineteenth is particularly hopeful because John Ford, the Republican candidate, has declared himself in favor of a Warner Miller Sunday.

From other sources it was learned that the chances of success and the relative strength of the various candidates were thoroughly discussed, as was also the effect of the independent candidacy of Alfred Steckler and his associates on the I. C. O. ticket and its possible effect on the result. It was admitted that some of the fusion candidates are personally strong. Thomas L. Hamilton, Republican candidate for County Clerk, was specially mentioned.

Almost to a man the Germans were reported to be for the ticket, also the liquor dealors and the small shopkeepers who have experienced the tyranny of the laws and ordinances when enforced to the letter.

The accessions to the voting strength of the wigwam, it was asserted, was sufficient to insure the election of the ticket by at least 30,000 votes.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB RATIFIES.

Perry Belmont Suggests that the Police Board Is Illegally Partisan.

The Democratic Club had a ratification meeting of its own last night at its club house, 617 Fifth avenue, Mr. John Fox, President of the club, presiding. "Republicanism," said Robert B. Roosevelt.

the first speaker, "is bad enough, but when it ecomes a reform Republicanism it shames the He said that the local ticket presented by Tammany is not only the best, but is in the di-rection of the underlying principle of all improvement in the judiciary, the retention of good Judges and officials, regardless of their politics.

M. Warley Platzek, the next speaker, scored the Grace Democrats in a short and spirited speech. "It is criminal," he said, "for Democrats to endanger the national ticket next year by fusing with Republicans anywhere this crate to endanger the national ticket hext year by fusing with Republicans anywhere this year."

E. Ellery Anderson also arraigned the Democratic organizations which, he said, had proved traitors to their party by affiliating with the Republicans. A letter was read from the Hon. Perry Belmont, who said that the Mayor in appointing his Police Board had evaded the biparty law by appointing two regular Republicans and two members of a Democratic faction recently declared irregular by the Supreme Court. Of this Board the President's will is the controlling will and his colleagues are dummies. "His activity in endeavoring to defeat next Tuesday the party, faithful and zealous members of which two of his colleagues are by law required to be, but are not, is apparent day and night. Has New York ever before beheld an omnipresent and all-controlling Board of Police thus inspiring policemen who are guardians of the integrity of the ballot boxes to defeat at the police one of the great parties in the contest?" Mr. Belmont suggested further that it is primarily the business of the Excise Board to execute the Excise Isw. The policeman's function is to arrest for a misdemeanor that he sees. Why had there not been a great many revocations of licenses unless the violations reported by the police have been imaginary violations? "Closing the premises by you of ing the Henne would relieve policemen from further trouble and from the termitation to bribery, but the glory of 'reform' did not lie that way."

BEAMAN TACKLES THE 50.

LAUTERBACH EXPECTS A FIVE FIGURE CHECK ON SUNDAY,

But It Took a Master Hand at Putting On the Screws to Work the Oracle, and After All They Havn't Got the Money. The order for Jimmies and scaling ladders placed by Mr. Amasa Thornton for the Republican County Committee on Thursday evening was not filled yesterday, the committee deciding to make one more appeal before resorting to the more desperate method of getting the dough from the Fifty's bake shop in the Gilsey House At the meeting of the Two Thirteens Thursday afternoon, when the discouraging intelligence came that the Hon. Edward Lauterbach had lust his voice while pleading before the dough mixers of the Fifty in behalf of the boys, ways and means were discussed, Toward the end of the meeting Col. Walnut said: "Boys, d'ye remember Teddy Roosevelt's famous remark about what he'd do with the saloon keepers if Tammany Hall wins this election? D'ye remember? He said, 'We'll put the screws down harder, that's all. We'll give 'em another twist.' Well, boys, that's what we got to do, 'n our business is to find out who can turn the screw hardest." There was some ap plause at this, and then the Two Thirteens fel to guessing who the proper man could be. Amasa, "but from the frost I got there to-day ! kinder think they're onto me, so you can count me out."

" Me, too," said the Hon. Cornelius Van Cott. "'N me," said the New Boy. "I was up there once, and it wouldn't do any good." "You're all off, boys," said Col. Walnut. You people ain't onto yourselves yet. Why, say, we got to get something high class this time, something that they won't suspect, What's the matter with the Hon. Charles C. "Hooray!" yelled the crowd, "He's the man."

"But will he do it? Can we get him?" said

one. "Can we get him?" said another. "Why, we've got him. Why, say, what did they want us to fuse for If it wasn't to get Beaman nominated? What did they promise to put up $50,000 for if it wasn't for that? Ain't he looking for the biggest loaf of bread on election day? Don't he know we can't make the bread for him if we don't get the dough? Well, I guess."

day? Don't he know we can't make the bread for him if we don't get the dough? Well, I guess."

And so it was unanimously agreed that the Hon. Charles C. Benman should be the man to give the screw another twist. The Sun's informant says that it was an awful twist. All past efforts were eclipsed. The appeal before the Geneva Tribunal in the Alabama case wasn't a marker to this one, so it is said. And as the screw tightened the dough mixers are said to have winced and asked for mercy, saying that the State Democracy and the Gazoos and others had put the screws on too, and they were in pain. Now as to the result of this extra twist by Mr. Beaman. The Two Thirteens were gathered at Republican headquarters at 4 o'clock vesterday afternoon anxiously awaiting news. There had been a dozen disappointments, and everybody was getting discouraged when the door suddenly opened and the round and cheerful face of the Hon. A. H. Steele, boss dough mixer and distributer for the Fifty, was shoved in. Every man in the room saw him at the same moment and every man made a dive for him. He retreated into the County Committee waiting room. The highbinders and the spellbinders took after him, Col. Jim Stewart in the lead. Then the door of the room was locked. It remained locked a long while. Finally Mr. Steele came out. He bolted for the elevator so fast that his face couldn't be seen. The highbinders and spellbinders came after him. They had pledged themselves to secrey. They took The Sun reporter aside and whispered to him:

"He sweets we work set it if was the development." Was very we won't set if if was the dout."

"Us vevers we won't set if if was the us $2,200 the other day. That's all since the first $9,000, and if this promise isn't kept, look out."

"What is this promise?" asked the reporter.

"He swears we won't get it if we tell," was the response. "So we'll tell you, but you mustn't print the exage amount."

The amount was in five figures. The check, the boys said, was to come by Sunday. They were happy and yet unhappy. As Amasa said, "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush, 'n we'd tather have half of it now 'n be safe."

Mr. Treat was at the bake shop yesterday. So were a collection of the Anti-Tammany end of the James O'Brien Democracy and Campaign Manager Klein of the Goo Goos, together with a fine grist of strikers.

It came out yesterday that one of the dough mixers of the Fifty had a fit on Thursday. Mr. Klein was responsible for it. This mixer asked him how much would be needed to pay watchers on election day. Mr. Klein said, "Not a cent, damn you, sir, not a cent. We wouldn't touch your money. We will man the polls to the best of our ability as American citizons. Take your money and send it to hadea."

The dough mixer looked stupefied a moment, gasped twice, and then threw a fit that beat anything that Tardy, the champion dummy chucker, ever threw. Mr. Klein was the first man representing an organization who hadn't told how much it cost.

GREAT RALLY OF THE I. C. O. Cooper Union Crowded Last Night with an

The Cooper Union hall would not hold all the voters wno tried to get into it last night to ratify ganization. Most of the I. C. O.s marched to the hall behind brass bands, coming from various parts of the city. The audience was full of enthusiasm and cheered the names of the three candidates every time they were mentioned.

Capt. Thomas E. Madge, formerly an O'Brienintroduced ex-Senator Boyd, who said: "Our emblem, a cannon, symbolizes the pure and patriotic policy of the Independent County Organization, its courage and the correctness of directed efforts, and the invincibility and ui-timate triumph of its principles. Our candi-dates will never be subservient to any hall, boss, or faction, and will know no masters but dates will never be subservient to any hall, boss, or faction, and will know no masters but the people."

William A. Ellia denounced Tammany Hall and John C. Sheehan, who, he said, were in favor of the law, but against its enforcement. Ernest Harvier brought out a cane and a reproduction of an official ballot about five by eight feet in size, and instructed the audience how to vote for the candidates. Then there were cries for Mrs. Bremer, wife of the candidate for Register. She has been making a vigorous canvass on the east side. She was not down on the programme, but she made a speech, which was received with cheers.

"In my campaign," she said, "the greatest evil I have met with is the practice of selling votes. A couple of hundred whom I have asked to vote for our candidates have asked. What will you pay? I said, 'Keep your votes, if that is the condition on which we must win them.' Then I explained what a vote should be to a man-sacred as his wife, his children, his hearthstone. After that every one of them promised to vote our ticket without being paid for it."

hearthstone. After that every one of them promised to vote our ticket without being paid for it."

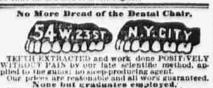

Excise Inspector Harburger, candidate for County Clerk, told an anecdote of Col. Strong. The Mayor's name was greeted with faint applause. "Col. Strong, said Mr. Harburger, "is an honest man. I went to him last April and said, "Colonei, I think that President Roosevelt and the other Commissioners are making the greatest mistake of their lives in their atrict interpretation of the Excise law." I told him of my own views and said I was willing to step down and out of my place if my principles were not those of the people. He had the courage to say: 'Julius, stick to your principles. I believe you are honest and a man."

Ex-Judge Steckler said:

"Ever since the date upon which the Independent County Organization honored me by giving me the nomination for the high office of Judge of the Supreme Court, I have been greatly impressed with the knowledge of the responsibilities which rest upon me as one of the representatives of the sublime principles for the promotion of which the members of the organization are diligently laboring. Those principles are so well known to you all that I shall only refer to one of them as this time. This is the all-important question of personal liberty. This organization being the only one which has openly, independently, and unequivocally declared in favor of absolute personal liberty, the number of votes cast for its candidates will be a tolerably fair test of the sentiments of the people of this metropolis in regard to the personal liberty the number of votes cast for its candidates will be a tolerably fair test of the sentiments of the people of this metropolis in regard to the personal liberty lissue."

Candidate Brewer also made a speech.

Grote Can Vote. The right of the Hon. W. Frederick Grote to vote at the election next Tuesday has been questioned since the publication of the fact that he was convicted of burglary in 1868. Mr. Grote is the leader of the New York State De-mocracy in the Sixteenth Assembly district and the candidate of that organization for Assem-blyman. He has been endorsed by the Republi-cans. He always does vote, and the fact is that sentence was suspended under his conviction, so that he did not lose his rights.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN HUSTLING. 5,000 Campaign Circulars in Three Languages Distributed.

The Republican women were in a great state of delight yesterday. They all agreed that Miss Helen Varick Boswell's having been invited to speak with Dr. Depew, Mr. Elihu Root, ex-Senator Hiscock, and other well-known orators at the final mass meeting in Carnegie Hall tonight spoke volumes for the estimate put on woman's work in this campaign.

"And do you know," said a member of the West End Club, "she was routed out of bed Thursday night at 1 o'clock by a telegram from State headquarters asking her to speak, and the of holding this meeting came up a dozen telegrams were received at headquarters asking that Miss Boswell be urged to speak. It's the first time that a woman has ever spoken at such a big political meeting."

Miss Boswell herself was not so much excited over the matter, and she went about electioneering as usual. In the morning she assisted Mrs. Stephen King in Little Italy in arranging the details of a mass meeting to be held at La Maida's Hall on First avenue to-night. La Maida promises that his followers will turn out about 400 strong.

The Harlem Auxiliary met at the Harlem Club, 145 West 125th street, in the afternoon with Mrs. Edward Fridenberg in the chair. The members are so very busy getting the names of those who have registered and making prepara-tions for the soup kitchens that the regular meeting was dispensed with, an executive session taking its place.

The West End Club held its regular weekly meeting at the Hotel Endicott. Mrs. Clarence Burns, who presided, announced that there would be no coffee boothson election day in that would be no coffee booths on election day in that ward, but urged the women to send out refreshments to the polls and to contribute either money or provisions to the booths conducted in Little Italy by Mrs. Mary L. Hall.

What was called a political symposium was then held by the club. Tammany was roundly abused by all the speakers.

A regular old-fashioned Methodist experience then held by the club. Tammany was roundly abused by all the speakers.

A regular old-fashioned Methodist experience meeting followed the speeches. Several women told why they were Republicans: others how they had been converted from Democracy, and a mother told how her boy became a Republican. While this was going on a good many suppressed "amens" were heard.

Mrs. Mary L. Hall called a meeting of her club at her house, 149 West Twenty-seventh street, yesterday morning and appointed committees of women to give out circulars, in English Italian, and German, on what municipal reform has done and will do to every man, woman, and child from Twenty-fourth street to Thirty-second street. One woman was stationed in front of the schoolhouse in Twenty-cighth street to see that each pupil received three of these circulars to take home. Fully 5,000 were given out during the day, and this work will be kept up until election day.

Everything is in readiness for the parade and open-air meeting to be led by Mrs. Hall tonight. Edward Lauterbach, Frank D. Pauey, and John E. Milholland will speak to the paraders from their respective headquarters. The start will be made from 149 West Twenty-seventh street at 80 clock. Two hundred Cubans will take part in the parade, and several other nationalities will be represented. After the return to the starting place several candidates will serve refreshments.

Mrs. Alexander Bremer, who is working for the I. C. O., is out from early morning until long past midnight, and says that she proposes to keep this up until after the election. She addressed several labor meetings last night, and says the other women will be surprised to learn when the returns are all in what she has accomplished.

New Constitution Seems to Bar Homes for Incurables and Old Shipbuilders.

David Leventritt obtained from Judge Bar ett yesterday two orders directing the election Moors of the Forty-ninth and Fifty-first Election districts of the Thirty-fifth Assembly district to show cause to-day why a number of names registered by them should not be stricken from the rolls. In the first case the defendants are Louis A. Staples and twenty-four other in-mates of the Home for Incurables, Fordham. The other defendants are William D. Craft and ten other inmates of Webb's Home and Academy for Shipbuilders, Fordham Heights. The contention in the case is that these institutions are wholly or partly supported by private contributions. The new Constitution says that nobody shall gain or lose a residence by being an inmate of "any institution wholly or partly supported at the public expense or by charity."

Edward Hennessey of 322 East Eighteenth street refused to answer questions about his personal marks when he went to register, and went out and got a mandamus from Judge Barrett requiring the election officers to make their own observations and register him. Then he found out that they had registered him, and the order was disminsed yesterday.

Judge Barrett yesterday ordered the election inspectors in the Second Election district of the Third Assembly district to put the name of George T. Carr on their books. They had rejused to register Carr because he would not raise his hand to affirm. Judge Barrett expressed surprise at the ignorance of the Board. contention in the case is that these institutions

STRONG MEN WON'T CHIP IN

HACKETT AND LAUTERBACH ASK TWICE AND GET NOT A CENT.

From the Mayor Down the List of His Republican Officeholders the Answer to the Circulars Was on Arctic Stience, The Republican State campaigners at the Fifth Avenue Hotel told some of their visitors yesterday that Mayor Strong and his Republi-can officeholders here in New York county are mighty queer Republicans. Identical senti-ments were expressed at the Republican County shebang, in West Thirty-eighth street, presided over by President Edward Lauterbach. The Republican campaign, both in the State and in New York city, is practically over, and some secrets are leaking. One of them is that Mayor Strong and his Republican officeholders have refused to contribute either a red or any other kind of a cent to the State campaign or to the County Committee.

Chairman Charles W. Hackett of the Republican State Committee has sent two circular letters to Mayor Strong and all of his Repub lican officeholders, requesting voluntary con tributions. President Lauterbach for the Republican County Committee has sent Mayor Strong and his Republican officeholders two similar appeals. The Mayor and the Republican officeholders have made no response. Not a cent have they sent either to Hackett or to Lauterbach. The Mayor's Republican critics said yesterday that the campaign in New York

Lauterbach. The Mayor's Republican critics said yesterday that the campaign in New York county this fall really means that the Mayor's administration is on trial. If they didn't care a copper for the Republican State ticket, the Mayor and his friends should certainly have chipped in for the fusion ticket.

But that lot are not good "producers." In June last Mr. Lauterbach sent an appeal to Mayor Strong and the other Republican office-holders, saying that the County Committee was "broke" and needed funds for the clerical and preliminary work at Republican county head-quarters. Beyond meagre responses from Police Commissioners Grant and Roosevelt nothing came of that appeal. In a word, it has been the opinion for some time that the Strong administration and its friends propose to make as rocky a road as possible for Lauterbach and his lieutenants who at present control the Republican County Committee, Moreover, they dislike Platt, Hackett, and all hands at Republican State headquarters. If the election of the Hepublican State ticket would contribute to Platt's glory solely, these Strong Republicans would be expected to hack it from top to bottom. Inasmuch, however, as Warner Miller has come to the front, should the Republican State ticket alide through, much of the credit would be given to Mr. Miller, and the Strong Republicans are expected to vote for it. But if anything happens to the fusion ticket on election day the Lauterbach Republicans propose to speak out in meeting and put the responsibility where they think it will belong.

Another interesting point came out yesterday. Another interesting point came out yesterday. Another interesting point came out yesterday. The story in The Sun yesterday that the Republican State campaigners have given up all hope of electing the fusion ticket here in New York county was and is true.

MAYORING TOO MUCH FOR STRONG.

MAYORING TOO MUCH FOR STRONG. The Boys Have Made His Life a Burden.

and He'll Never Take Office Again. In an afternoon paper yesterday was an interview with Mayor Strong, in which he says that he will never run for office again, and that he will be glad when his term of office is over. The Mayor said yesterday that the interview was correct, and that while there was a little more in it than he said, all of it expressed his views. Among other things, therefore, the Mayor said this or a little less: "I will not accept any elective office again under the United States Government, This I say, aithough I have two years yet to serve, and January, 1808, is a long way off. The cares and exactions of public office are too great a strain upon one, and the rewards are in no way commensurate with the labor involved. I never want to hold public office again, and I say this in no spirit of dissatisfaction, I believe the rank and file of the people approve of the manner in which the present administration is conducted and will voice that approval by giving a big majority for the fusion ticket. The approval of the people is, of course, a source of gratification to an official, but that does not repair the wear and tear on mind and body caused by the clashing of conflicting interests which make an executive the target of their thrusts. The actual duties which pertain to office are enough for a man to perform, and are a severe tax upon his energies. To them are added cares of a purely political character which are burdensome."

The Mayor is reported to have said also that he believes the time is rapidly approaching when the people will throw off boss rule and elect their own representatives without the hindrance of any man or set of men. say, although I have two years yet to serve, and

SATCHEL DAY OVER

Scattering of the Republican Messengers of Joy-870,000 to Lick Coggeshall,

The satchels were filled at Republican State was done in time to let Executive Chairman Odell return to his home in Newburgh on the 5 o'clock train. Clerk John S. Kenyon also got through in time to depart for Syracuse, who there is a fine old Republican battle over the municipal offices with a good prospect that the Democrats will elect their Mayor. Deacon Hackett saw to it that the clasps on all the satchels were shut tight, and, with a parting word to the county chairmen and their representatives to look out for turning joints here in wicked New York, the Deacon made his final arrangements to leave for Utica.

The Deacon is disturbed over the Coggeshall campaign in Oneida county. At the lowest estimate it will cost $70,000 to defeat Coggeshall for the Senate. That's a heap of cash in an "off year," but the Republicans have more funds this year than in any campaign shee 1802. In that memorable campaign the Republican National and State Committees had an average of $30,000 for every county in the State, representing a total expenditure of $1,800,000 in the State. there is a fine old Republican battle over the senting a total expenditure of $1,800,000 in the State.

In 1892, however, the Democrats had a little cash of their own. This year it is different with them. Yet all the testimony from Oneida county is to the effect that Coggeshall is to win. If he runs first under the wire he will be a rare old bird at Albany for three years, with all the Republican secrets in his breast. Deacon Hackett, however, declares that Coggeshall must and shall be defeated.

All the Republican campaigners are to be back at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on Tuesday night. Mr. Platt, as usual, will vote in Owego.

An old gentleman had suffered from flatulence, due to indigestion; had been so annoyed by it that he had consulted all the doctors in the vicinity without securing any benefit. Finally he came to my office. I prescribed several remedies which failed utterly. I then prescribed Ripans Tabules, which he reported gave him immediate relief, and he is now nearly cured. HILL SAYS ALL'S WELL.

Republican Dodging on the Excise Ques-tion Has Disgusted Thoughtful Voters, Senator Hill came down from Albany last night and discussed the outlook with the Demcratic State campaigners. At the Hotel Normandie later the Senator said: "The political situation is very encouraging. There is absolute unanimity everywhere throughout the State in favor of the State ticket. Thoughtful men are becoming disgusted at the double-faced position of Republicans on the excise question. The attempt of Republicans in this city to set up an entirely different excise platform from that of their State Convention is the most wonderful performance in politics ever attempted. Some very reputable Republican gentlemen make speeches at Republican mass meetings in favor of the State plat form, and then in a night or two attend meetings of the Committee of Fifty and assent to the passage of resolutions repudiating the State platform and favoring 'local option and home passage of resolutions repudiating the State platform and favoring 'local option and home rule' in excise matters.

"When such gentlemen as Joseph H. Choate, James C. Carter, Wheeler H. Peckham, Carl Schurz, and others assent to the passage of resolutions in favor of the principle enunciated in the Democratic platform on excise, when they know that the Republican State platform is altogether contrary to that position, and that the Republican legislative candidates in this city are pledged both ways upon the excise question, and they favor the election of these candidates, the situation is not only amusing but very complicated.

"I cannot believe that it is possible that the people of this city or the State will approve a party that is thus 'playing fast and loose' with so important a question as the excise question. If there are those who do not approve of the policy of 'home rule,' and agree with Warner Miller that 'home rule in excise matters' would be 'inconsistent with good government,' they nevertheless admire the consistency of the Democratic party in the position which it has assumed.

"The Republican position is inconsistent.

ocratic party in the position which it has assumed,
"The Republican position is inconsistent, hypocritical, and dishonest. You can't tell what any Republican means upon this question. With the Republicans it is a game of deceit, of false pretences, and of vote getting. Any pretence to be honest on this question has been absolutely abandoned. I have absolutely no words in which to express my contempt for a party which has no convictions and no principles upon such a subject.
"The proposed constitutional amendment a subject.

"The proposed constitutional amendment adopted by the last Legislature in regard to prison labor, which virtually abrogates section 29 of Article III. of the Constitution, adopted last fall, is attracting widespread attention. The Republicans secured the votes of workingmen to adopt their new Constitution last fall, and as soon as it was adopted they turn around and amend the very clause that induced the workingman to vote for it. There has been no explanation of this change of heart since last fall."

EAGER MARYLAND DEMOCRATS. A Torchlight Procession of 20,000 Marchers in Baltimore,

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1 .- The Democrats to-night closed their side of the liveliest campaign ever waged in Maryland with the biggest torchlight parade ever seen in Baltimore. Twenty thousand Democrats were in line, and the residences of hundreds were illuminated. Republican leaders and disaffected Democrats said that thousands of the torchbearers were paid to appear in line. There were twenty-five bands of music heading the various ward organizations. The color line was strongly drawn in the inscriptions on the transparencies, such as: "We want no negro umpire in our championship games!" "No mixed schools in old Maryland!" "No negroes on our police force!" "We are op-posed to turning white men out and putting negroes in!"

On the reviewing stand were the candidates of the State and city tickets, and when the procession began to pass, fully 25,000 persons were massed about the Mount Royal squares.

HARRISON MEN CONFER. They Look for an Uprising of the People to Force His Nomination.

the city to-day gave rise to the rumor that a Harrison conference was in progress. There was a general interchange of views. Gen. Harrison spent the morning arguing a case before the Indiana Supreme Court.

Every one of the Harrison men here to-day believes that by the time the national Convention is held the rank and file of the party will demand his numination, and that when nominated he will not decline. They believe that any effort to organize in his behalf would force him into the position of a candidate for the office or bring from him a declaration that he would not accept it. They profess not to be a bit aiarmed at the stories of a combination of "big Republicans" for Reed, their theory being that if such a combination is in existence it will hurt Reed more than it will help him.

CHANCELLOR M'GILL'S FOTE. On a Labor Bill He Stood with the Assen

TRENTON, Nov. 1.-The political campaign in Mercer county closed to-night with an immense Democratic mass meeting in Taylor's Opera House. The speakers were R. V. Lindabury of Elizabeth, and Eckard P. Budd of Mount Holly. Mr. Lindabury devoted himself to Candidate Griggs's record on race-track legislation. Prosecutor Budd said that Chancellor McGill told him yesterday that he had voted in 1875 against the bill to require manufacturers to pay their employees in good money because he had been requested to do so by the four Labor members in the Assembly at that time. He gave the names of three of them as Gill, Shaw, and Henry.

The Tammany Democrats of the Thirty-second Assembly district held a ratification meeting in the open air, at the corner of Eighty-sixth street and Third avenue, last night, after a parade and Third avenue, last high, after a parada around the district. The Michael Duffy Association headed the parade, 700 strong. The George T. Malone Association, John F. Fitzelbbons Association, Windsor Club, Antique Club, and several Democratic clubs of the Thirty-second Assembly district, averaging 150 men each, followed in order. Ex-Alderman Michael Duffy led the procession on a black horse. There were four aides on white chargers.

Vote For William Church Osborn for Sen

GARRISON'S, Nov. 1.—The cry of the Demo crats herenbouts is " Vote solid and strong to the State ticket and William Church Osborn for Senator!" It has penetrated every Democratic household in Dutchess, Putnam, and Columbia counties. The decent Republicans are disgusted over the nomination of William C. Daley, a tool of Lou Payn. The voters of the Twenty-fourth Senate district demand the elevation of a representative man, and he is William Church Osborn.

FOR GROUT AND REFORM.

GRAND RALLY OF THE BROOKLYN DEMOCRACY IN THE ACADEMY, The Candidate for Mayor Lava Down the

Principles Which Will Govern His Ad-ministration and Predicts a Victory. The closing Democratio rally in Brooklyn under the direction of the regular Campaign Committee took place last night in the Academy of Music, and it was one of the largest and most enthusiastic in the canvass. After calling the meeting to order, John L. Shea, Chairman of the Campaign Committee, confidently predicted the election of Edward M. Grout, the candidate for Mayor. His declaration, "We have right and justice on our side and will win," elicited an outburst of cheering.

Ex-Park Commissioner Daniel M. Somers, who presided, drew out another burst of enthucomes to see it will find what he is old Democratic party, respect for personal libnot looking for-a garment thick erty, home rule, low taxes, and schools for children, will be kept aloft, and will glow with a without being clumsy; warm but not heavy. Every detail has been dense brighter light for having a true reformer, unpledged and untrammelled, at the head of our city government." Judge George M. Beebe of Monticello was then introduced, and for half an hour handled the Ropublicans and so-called reformers without gloves. He compared the present State Admin-istration with that of its immediate predecessors, and showed how the tax rate had been augmented 50 per cent, in a single year under the Republicans. When he incidentally referred to Senator Hill a wild cheer swept through the Academy, which could almost be heard as the Shepardite headquarters a block away. The cheering was repeated again and again, and when it had subsided Mr. Beebe said: "I like to cheering was repeated again and again, and when it had subsided Mr. Boebe said: "I like to hear this, for of all men since the time of Thomas Jefferson no Democrat has been more vilely or unjustly accused than David Benneta Hill." Mr. Beebe paid his respects to the Constitutional Convention for its work in disfranchising the voters of New York and Kings counties by the infamous apportionment scheme, and then discussed the excise views of Mr. Depew and of Warner Miller as opposed to those of Mr. Platt. He quoted St. Paul as a better authority than even Dr. Parkhurst on Sunday observance, Just as Mr. Beebe was closing Mr. Grout arrived. On his way to the front of the stage he was cheered to the echo. When he came forward the cheering was renewed, and it lasted a souple of minutes.

Mr. Grout spoke in part as follows:

"It is clear that the Democratic party now stands for non-partisanship in municipal affairs, and the Republican party for a political administration of the Mayor's office. It is clear that the Democratic party is a party committed to the principle of municipal home rule in all matters, including even the excise matter; while the Republican party has taken the other side of this question. The Democratic party has put itself in favor of granting no franchises to any railroad or other corporation in the streets or public places of the city without adequate compensation and without competition. It has put itself in favor of developing the annexed territory of the city in all the directions in which such development is so much needed. It has declared that adequate school accommodations for every child in the city should be provided, and that this should be done before money is spent upon outlying parks. It is openly in favor of good roads. It desires that bridges should be built over the East River as rapidly as possible; that rompt measures should be taken to remove from the surface of Atlantic avenue the steam road, whose operation is now a menace to life and limband an obstacle to the development of t he conducted against the Nassau Electric Railroad Company:

"DEAR MR. GROUT: I sincerely congratulate you on your fine victory. It is by far the best thing yet done to undo the iniquities for the undoing of which the campaign of 1893 was fought. Hinrich's enforcement of the arrears law against the rich and Yonge's campaign against the Police Justices, taken with your more important achievements, are the three best things done to make public administration better in the city since Mayor Boody went out. It is not unreasonable for us to take some satisfaction out of the fact that if the wrongdoers were Democrats in name those who righted the wrongs were Democrats both in name and in reality."

wrongs were Democrats both in name and in reality."

"I find," continued Mr. Grout, "that the indications everywhere over the city, from Coney Island to Greenpoint, from East New York to Fort Hamilton, are that the ticket of the Regular Democracy and of the independent citizens will win at the polls."

Ex-Surrogate Abraham H. Dailey also spoke. The Citizens' party, which has been doing great work for sir, Grout, will wind up its campaign in the Criterion Theatre to-night.

WORKING FOR M'CLELLAND. The Man Who Should Be Sent Back to the Senate from Westchester.

DOBBS FERRY, Nov. 1 .- Never have the Democrats of Westchester been so thoroughly united in their efforts to give a rousing vote to the Democratic State ticket and to send the Hon. Charles P. McClelland again to the Senate. Hon. Charles P. McClelland again to the Senate,

The Democrats and, for that matter, many Republicans express unequivocally their esteem for Mr. McClelland and their warm admiration of his abilities as an able and straightforward legislator. His record is sound,
The Hon. Jirvingburns, Mr. McClelland's Republican adversary, has been denounced time and again this year by the New York Tribunc, the Republican organ of the State, for his utter subserviency to the Platt outit at Albany last winter. Moreover, in the matter of sound legislative ability the Hon. Jirving isn't a fly on a wheel to Mr. McClelland. Register Graney, Andrew C. Fields, and other sturdy Democrats hereabouts are working like dray horses, day and night, for the State ticket and Mr. McClelland. On the other hand, a number of eminent Republicans wouldn't shed a tear if the Hon.
Jirving is shunted to the rear.

He said he was bound to be elected any way, and advised his hearers not to waste their votes by not casting them for him.
